

Janette Auguar is a native of Columbia, South Carolina where she graduated from South Carolina State University with a B.A. in Professional Theatre and Communications. She has enjoyed being a Radio Disc Jockey for over 25 years, starting her career in South Carolina at WDIX and WQKI radio stations. Janette's heart is to provide a platform for Christians to share how God turned messes into messages which birthed her show, "A Spiritual Connection". Originally as a cable tv show, which she produced for over 10 years, she currently produces and hosts the show on The Real Urban Radio Network, in hopes that God would use her as a conduit, allowing the word of the guests' testimonies to help all hear overcome their own personal struggles.

As a faithful member of The City of Refuge in Gardena, CA under the leadership of Bishop Noel Jones for over 20 years, Janette served as Anchor for "City News", the weekly church video news program. She also was responsible for Public Relations for the Women's Ministry "Sisters in the Spirit". Janette created her corporation, Diamond Eagle, Inc to utilize media to bridge the gap between the disenfranchised.

Janette is a mother of two, a Daddy's girl, and loves the Lord with all of her heart. She uses every experience God has entrusted her with to glorify Him as a living witness of His grace, mercy, and power.
